

CABLE FORCE HELD BY ARMED SAILORS

U. S. Sub Chaser Halts New Move to Connect Up Line to Barbados.

MIAMI, Nov. 24.—An armed force from a navy sub chaser was standing guard to-night over a Western Union Telegraph Company cable barge in Biscayne Bay here to prevent connecting of the shore ends of a submarine cable, work on which was interrupted by the Government draft during the day.

The company's employees sent out this morning to connect the cable ends were on the barge, which they had been "requested" by the bluejackets, they said, not to leave.

The cable was laid to connect Miami with Key West and passes under water at the opening in the new causeway. The section of cable for this purpose has been stored aboard the barge since the company's cable work first was interrupted by direction from Washington several months ago. The workmen went aboard this morning on orders from the New York office of the telegraph company to connect the cable ends immediately, it is said, but the sub chaser took charge of the situation before splicing actually had begun.

Just before 10 o'clock to-day a force of fifteen men, including nine negroes, went out to a barge with the supposed intention of connecting the cable where work had ceased. It is said connections could have been completed in three hours, but new negotiations after they started the subchaser took charge, alongside the barge, tied up to it and a crew of armed sailors, headed by the commander, went aboard. Having the negroes and other Western Union employees up on the barge, where they were still under guard at noon.

Newcomb Carlton, president of the Western Union Telegraph Company, refused last night to comment on the action of the Government in stopping the work on connecting the shore ends of a submarine cable at Miami.

"We are seeking an injunction," said Mr. Carlton, "to enjoin the Government from interfering with the work, the application for which will be heard Friday at Washington."
